

WHERE SEATTLE
COMES
TOGETHER.

RETURNING TO THE CENTER

As we welcome visitors back to Seattle Center, we've put extra measures in place to keep our visitors and event goers safe, healthy and reassured! The measures will flex and change as our situation evolves, and in accordance with State and City guidance, but they will err on the side of ensuring our patrons enjoy the cleanest and safest time imaginable at Seattle Center.

WHAT WE'RE DOING TO KEEP VISITORS SAFE:

CLEANING & DISINFECTING

We know it makes a difference in stemming the spread of viruses, and so we regularly clean and disinfect gathering areas in all City-owned and operated facilities including Seattle Center Armory, Fisher Pavilion and Exhibition Hall. Areas include the Armory Food & Event Hall and Lofts, restrooms, meeting rooms, elevators, stairways and entrances. Visitors will find hand sanitizer stations throughout our facilities as well as shiny counters and floors!

STAFF PRACTICES & PROTOCOLS

The health and safety of Seattle Center employees is our top consideration. There is a mask on all the time policy while working in communal spaces on the grounds, and sick staff are asked to stay home. Employees are trained to clean and disinfect any surface our visitors might touch, with careful tracking of their work. Even event equipment is cleaned and disinfected before and after every use with EPA-approved products.

CREATING SAFE & HEALTHY EVENTS

Our approach to safe and healthy events at Seattle Center is guided by our Return to events and campus operations plans. To allow adequate time for cleaning and ventilating enclosed spaces, upcoming indoor events have been scheduled with lots of time in between. Further, we work with our event clients to help them complete a Health Safety Plan, so that our health and safety measures remain consistent no matter who puts on the party!

HEALTH & SAFETY AWARENESS

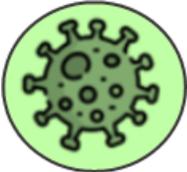

A designated Seattle Center staff contact and health safety consultant keep us in the know about the latest guidance and research and help adjust our approach and protocols accordingly, based on the latest wisdom and science. Go team!

WHERE
SEATTLE
COMES TOGETHER.

WHAT WE ASK YOU TO DO WHEN YOU VISIT:

We won't ask for your vaccination status, and we will equitably treat all visitors in regard to health and safety while on the grounds. Please abide by the following to help us keep everyone well:

IF YOU'RE SICK, STAY HOME

Feel a sniffle coming on or tickle in your throat? If you're ill or think you might be coming down with something, please rest at home and keep others healthy.

SOCIAL DISTANCE, STILL

We might be the region's top visitor gathering place, but we ask you to be aware of COVID-acquired sensitivities and respect personal boundaries of your fellow gatherers as we all reacclimate to gathering together in public spaces.

WEAR A FACE COVERING

Masks are a must in City of Seattle buildings. Please cover your nose and mouth inside our facilities no matter what your vaccination status is—and outdoors on the grounds if you are not fully vaccinated.

FOLLOW YOUR EVENT GUIDELINES

Events at Seattle Center now follow operational and health safety plans to support the health and safety of our staff and event attendees. We hope you enjoy your time on the grounds—and please do your part to ensure a fun, safe and comfortable space for everyone!

Learn more and get answers to your questions at:

HEALTH & SAFETY FAQ

HEALTH & SAFETY AT THE CENTER